He informed that he had not had the opportunity to visit Pakistan but was still quite familiar with that country. People in China had special affection for Pakistan as it was the first Muslim country to recognize China and both countries had in the recent past celebrated 56 years of their diplomatic relations. Apart from political relations Pakistan and China enjoyed good economic and trade relations too. He stated that the Institute had made arrangement for the delegation to visit the JF-17 production facility in Chengdu and frigate production facility in Shanghai and that such opportunity was rarely available to other delegations. He also thanked the Institute for inviting Mr. Li Shulin, former Ambassador of China to Pakistan to accompany the delegation during its stay in China. He stated that relations between the two countries reached a land mark with the visit of President Hu Jintao to Pakistan in November, 2006 as important agreements were signed during that visit. He stated that the Senate Defence Committee was establishing contact with Chinese authorities for the first time. Senator Memon thanked China for supporting Pakistan's observer status to the Shanghai Cooperation Organization and efforts to join ASEAN. The induction of China as an observer in SAARC would help in achieving peace in the region. Pakistan was pleased to have signed numerous agreements with China especially the one on fighting extremism, terrorism and separatism. Moreover, the free trade agreement between China and Pakistan would also go a long way in strengthening economic and trade relations between the two countries.

China and Pakistan are trusted friends, sincere partners and good brothers and that friendship between the two Countries was an all weather friendship. It was a model of friendly relations between two countries with two different systems. She said China appreciates Pakistan's support to Beijing on issues like one China policy, the Tibet issue and fight against terrorism while Chinese people give full support to Pakistan to up hold its sovereignty. She said the year 2006 was a commemorative year as President Musharraf visited China twice while President Hu Jintao visited Pakistan in November that year and the two Countries signed Five Year Programme for Trade and Economic Cooperation and Free Trade Agreement on goods and investment.

Meeting with Madam Hi Luli, Vice Chairperson of the National Peoples Congress

Madam Hi Luli further stated that in 2006 the Armies of China and Pakistan took part in counter terrorism exercise in Pakistan while China's Naval Fleet visited Pakistan for a multinational joint military exercise. She further stated that although inter Governmental exchanges play a major role in strengthening relations between countries, parliament to parliament interaction play an even important role being representative institutions. She was confident that visit by the Senate Defence Committee to China would play a role in strengthening the existing good relations between the two countries. She stated that the previous leadership of the two Countries founded the relationship while the younger generation had deepened the interaction and the torch would now pass on to future generations.

Senator Nisar A. Memon thanked the Vice President for the meeting and said that he agreed with every word that was said. Rear Admiral Yang Yi led the Chinese side while Senator Nisar Memon led the Pakistan delegation. Initiating the discussion Senator Memon stated that Pakistan's defence policy was based on defensive deterrence. Pakistan developed nuclear defence capability after India tested in 1974. Due to nuclear parity, India, which deployed 1 million troops on Pakistan border in 2002 stopped short of any adventurism against Pakistan. He said that Pakistan desired peace in the region and was settling disputes with its neighbours so as to raise the living standard of its people as was being done by China.

Senator Memon stated that after the imposition of sanctions by the West, China stood by Pakistan and remained a reliable source for our defence requirements. Pakistan has up-graded all the weapon systems and brought improvement in many others, including the manufacture of Al-Khalid and Al-Zarar Tanks. Moreover, we have joint ventures with China for producing JF-17. F-22 P frigates were being produced under technology transfer arrangement. Karakoram Highway and Gwadar Port are outstanding examples of strategic relationship between China and Pakistan. China's membership of SAARC would help in achieving environment of peace in the region.

Meeting at the National Defence University, Beijing

Senator Rukhsana Zuberi stated that the root cause of Afghan and Iraq wars is violation of human rights. If there were disparities and deprivations in different regions the conflicts would continue. Senator Naeem Hussain Chattha stated that Pakistan's nuclear capability was only for defence purpose. Pakistan got nuclear technology at a high cost but it made our defence impregnable.

Prof. Senior Col. Ouyang Wei asked about the next general elections to be held in Pakistan. Senator Nisar A. Memon responded that democracy was taking roots in Pakistan and elections had been held at the district, provincial and national levels including the Senate elections in 2003 and 2006. The Assemblies and the Senate would elect President Musharraf and there was no doubt about elections being held. When Senator Dilawar Abbas asked about China- India relations in the future, Prof. Senior Col. Ouyang Wei said China had kept a good balance between neighbours and was a good friend of Pakistan. In Chengdu the delegation visited the Chengdu Aircraft Design and Research Institute including the Avionics Laboratory. Mr. Sang Jianhua, Vice President CADI welcomed the delegation and briefed the Members on JF-17 aircraft. He stated that an MOU was signed between Pakistan and China in 1998 to co-design, codevelop and co-manufacture JF-17 based on the air staff requirements. It was being developed as a planned replacement of the aging A-5, F-7 and Mirage fleet of Pakistan Air Force. Strength of the JF-17 lies in its advanced aerodynamics and state of the art avionics. As a light weight, all weather, multi role aircraft with maximum speed of Mach 1.6, high thrust to weight ratio and hybrid flight controls, JF-17 gains comparative agility and maneuverability in all regimes vis-à-vis fighters of the same class.

Meeting at Chengdu Aircraft Design and Research Institute

Mr. Sang Jianhua further explained that the aircraft was designed to perform air defence, interdiction, air-field strike, precision strike and escort missions. Like any other modern aircraft, engine of F-17 is equipped with a digital electronic engine control which enhances aircraft engine performance and made engine handling care free under all conditions and at all altitudes. Long range radar and active beyond visual range missile through effective integration with on-board avionics provides the pilot with the first shot capability. The JF-17 would prove to be an affective low cost, high performance air defence fighter.

Senator Rukhsana Zuberi, Senator Mahtab Ahmed Khan, Senator Dilawar Abbas, Senator Nisar A. Memon and Senator Kamran Murtaza asked several questions regarding R&D related to JF-17.

Mr. Sang Jianhua responded that all R&D and simulation equipment were developed by them while some equipment were procured from the market. He said that the company was carrying out R&D. He said that JF-17 was a third generation aircraft and had state of the art avionics system. The project remained dormant for some time because they had to spend a lot of time with Pakistan on the idea and definition of JF-17. Subsequent to demonstration of Chinese avionics system, PAF decided to join the project. Many countries had shown interest in the aircraft.

At the conclusion of visit to CADI, Air Commodore Arshad Quddus introduced the PAF personnel posted to the JF-17 project to the delegation. Members of the delegation in general and Senator Memon in particular appreciated the commitment and hard work of PAF personnel for the success of the project, which would go a long way in strengthening the defence of the motherland.

Senator Memon further stated that on the Western border Pakistan shares an 800 Km border with Iran. Pakistan believed that the dispute between the US and Iran on the nuclear issue should be resolved under the auspices of International Atomic Energy Commission and not through use of force. He said that China was exporting $4 billion worth of goods to Pakistan while Pakistan exported goods worth $1 billion. He hoped that these numbers would increase due to the trade agreement signed between the two countries. Prof. Li Tao desired to have an exchange programme between the Institute and Punjab University wherein students and faculty could be exchanged on a regular basis. Senator Memon assured that he would take up the issue with the Government and Punjab University. The group has seven thousand employees and is equipped with a dry dock with capacity of over 8,500 DWT and five shipping berths for ships up to one hundred twenty thousand DWT.

Mr. Zhou Muyao, Vice Chairman of Hudong Shipyard briefs the Senators

The group has entrusted with the Contract of manufacturing four frigates for Pakistan Navy of which three will be manufactured in Shanghai while the fourth frigate will be built at the Karachi Ship Yard & Engineering Works. Under the agreement, KSEW will be upgraded to be able to manufacture the frigates. The first frigate will be ready by March 2008 and after thorough testing will be delivered to Pakistan Navy in August 2009. The fourth frigate to be built in Pakistan will be commissioned in May 2013. The Committee was separately briefed at Pakistan Navy Project office at Shipyard by Commodore Shafqat Jawed, leader of Pakistan team of naval officers and technicians based in Shanghai, to supervise the construction and receive training in all the relevant fields of frigate manufacturing. Senator Memon shared with the Pakistan team the Hudong management appreciation of the skills and support of Pakistan team. The highlight of this venture is the acquisition by Pakistan of high tech frigates at a comparatively low price and the transfer of technology to Pakistan in frigate manufacturing.

The members of the Committee asked numerous questions pertaining to the technology of the frigates, costs involved and the configuration of the engine and weapon systems. Later the members of the Committee were taken to the manufacturing site where the building of the first frigate has just commenced.

In the afternoon, the delegation had a meeting with the Mayor of Shanghai. Welcoming the delegation, the Mayor said that he felt happy between brothers from Pakistan and that the two countries are working together for development. There is close relationship between the people of Shanghai and people of Pakistan and the visit by the committee will further strengthen the bonds of friendship. He said that the quality of life of the Shanghai residents has improved during the last twenty years and the major factors which point to that direction is the increase in living place from ten square meters to eighteen square meters per person and average greenery has increased from one to ten meters per person. With pace of development there have been increased requirements of the people who in turn expect more facilities like transportation, better environment and jobs. This requires more efforts on the part of the government. He requested advice from delegation on the challenges being faced by Shanghai.

Senator Nisar A. Memon thanked the Mayor for his hospitality and said that the delegation was happy to be in the great commercial hub of China. He said that Shanghai specifically has done well in the last decade and suggested that this fast pace of development should be maintained. He stated that Shanghai is a good role model of development for Pakistani cities and there is great scope for cooperation between Karachi City Government and Shanghai National People's Congress. There is also prospect for cooperation between the Shanghai and Karachi Stock Exchanges as well as Universities and said that the leading Pakistani Banks would be encouraged to open their businesses in Shanghai as well,. Town planning is another area where Pakistan can learn from Shanghai's experience and techniques. As good town planning is a key to a human friendly and environment friendly city. Senator Memon invited the Mayor of Shanghai to visit Pakistan at his earliest convenience. The meeting was followed by dinner hosted by the Mayor at the Government State Guest House in Shanghai.

The meetings and visit were attended by Senators Syed Dilawar Abbas, Naeem Hussain Chattha, Asif Jatoi, Sardar Mehtab Ahmed Khan, Engr. Rukhsana Zuberi and Kamran Murtaza and Secretary Committee Iftikhar Ullah Babar. The delegation has concluded its visit to China after meetings in Beijing, Chengdu and Shanghai where they met the leadership of legislative National Peoples Congress at Great Hall of People, Beijing and
